Welcome! It’s the best time of year in Old Town! This is the 69th time friends, neighbors and artists will gather in our friendly little corner of Chicago to celebrate the Art Fair. It’s always familiar and always a little new. It’s a time to see old friends that have grown older and young ones that have grown quickly. It’s a time to meet new neighbors and catch up with those we’ve known for ages. And of course, we can’t help but think about those we all miss — especially this time of year. Leslie Wolfe, has been the rock we’ve all stood on for some 20 of these Art Fairs, and we all hope this year’s event will have made her proud.

It takes all of us to come together to make the Old Town Art Fair a success. Whether you’re a neighbor who graciously moved your car and spruced up your yard, an artist who drove hours to be here, a volunteer who has put in countless hours to make things just right, or an entertainer or food vendor who adds zest to our weekend, everyone contributes something special. We’re glad you’re here.

Enjoy the Fair!
The mission of The Grants Committee is to oversee and administer the grant program that the Old Town Triangle Association offers to schools and organizations that serve our community and support the stated mission and goals of the Old Town Triangle Association.

On May 2nd, the Grants Committee voted to approve 17 applicants for a total of $51,000 in grants. The Board unanimously approved the Committee recommendations.

Choosing recipients and amounts is very challenging as every applicant presented a worthy cause and a need for grant money. The requests totaled $82,500 this year. Recipients for 2017 include LaSalle Language Academy’s World Language Department and their Fine Arts program, Franklin Elementary Fine Arts Center, Lincoln Elementary, Lincoln Park High School’s Athletics Booster Club and the Instrumental Music Program. Also included are Lincoln Park Village, Lincoln Park Community Research Initiative, Near North Library, Green City Market’s Club Sprouts children’s program, Deborah’s Place and Lincoln Park Zoo. Rounding out the list are OTTA’s Boy Scout Troop 79, Lakefront Sculpture, Art on Sedgwick, Midwest Buddhist Temple and Edgar Miller Legacy which was new this year.

Recipients will pick up their checks at the Art Fair Thank You Party on June 16th.

A special thanks to the Grants Committee who worked so diligently and gave up many evenings to hear and discuss the presentations before determining request amounts.

As mentioned in the previous newsletter, our committee is developing a mobile-based historic tour of our district. We plan on rolling out the app incrementally over the rest of the year, hopefully having a demo tour ready by the Art Fair. The app will host a family of tours featuring our rich supply of architecture, culture, and history. Individual properties will be displayed through text, audio, pictures, and even videos on tourists’ mobile devices. Points of interest will be linked on themed tours of varying length.

Over the summer and beyond we’ll be going out and contacting neighbors for help with this project. If you live in a featured building, we’d like to find out interesting details of its history and get any old pictures you may have. We may even enlist your help in recording audio to tell the unique story of your home.

Look forward to further updates on this exciting program!

Historic tidbit: The first Old Town Art Fair, known as the Old Town Holiday, was held in 1950 during the first weekend in June. Art displays were limited to Lincoln Park West and its two adjacent alleys. This picture shows lifelong resident Otto Nau in front of his home at 1835 Lincoln Park West during that first Art Fair. Age 80 in this picture, Mr Nau was born before the Great Chicago Fire. In his childhood, he knew the area across the street (which is now Lincoln Park) as a meadow where cows grazed and kids played I Spy.

NEIGHBORHOOD IMPROVEMENT COMMITTEE

Karen Pfendler & Shannon Waterfield

NiC’s work for the 2017 season is finally underway. We re-negotiated our seasonal contract with Christy Weber; the water fountain in our OTTA Park has been turned on. We plan on planting 17 sumac bushes in our Eugenie Triangle Park; Rick Rausch has committed to watering them starting after May 30th and continuing through June. The Park District will assist us in the maintenance of this park.

All the Hopa crabapple trees in the Triangle were sprayed mid-April. They are sprayed because ornamental crab trees are susceptible to a rust and apple scab fungus called Venturia inaequalis (apple scab disease.) In 2011 we lost many crab trees as they had not been sprayed for 8 years. The result was most of the leaves turned brown and fell off at the end of each July. The fungicide used in spraying is called Compass and is non-toxic. The spraying, without a doubt, extends the life of our crab apple trees which were planted in 1959 (which makes them almost 60 years old.) Hopa crabapple trees were chosen because they are hardy; they mimic the pageantry of the cherry blossom festival in Washington DC; they are ornamental, tall and provide a beautiful canopy; and they have a shallow root system so they do not invade the underground water systems or do not disrupt the sidewalks. The replacement crabs that we are now planting are called Malice Prairie-fire and they will not require spraying for the crab fungus, but are flowering trees.

Phil Graff led a neighborhood walk-through with George Manning from American Pest Control with an eye to developing a neighborhood strategy regarding our rodent problems. We plan on scheduling a community meeting with George to help educate and inform residents on what we all need to do to combat this serious issue.

Alderman Smith is collaborating with the OTTA and the city on how best to repair/replace the brick sidewalks in the Triangle. In the next newsletter we will provide more information about our tree planting grant with the city (again, thanks to Alderman Smith’s hard work.).

Thanks to those of you who participated in our Spring Clean-up on May 13th. Let’s get those gardens ready for the Art Fair!

MEMBERSHIP AND COMMUNICATION COMMITTEE

Christopher Nelson, Chairman

Thank You to all the members who volunteer countless hours to help make the Old Town Art Fair the gem of art fairs. Without your support, we could not host such a great weekend event in our neighborhood. Your Membership Committee has been focused on our infrastructure this year. We’re hoping to implement a new membership database this summer that will make it easier to connect with fellow members, stay up-to-date on events and happenings, and make the membership experience at the OTTA a more rewarding experience for everyone! We’re moving to a new cloud-based database that will make information accessible on any device of your choosing. Our hope is this will generate new members in an easier more seamless way, allowing us to continue to grow our membership with more new friends and neighbors.

GRANT SPOTLIGHT | The Garden Beauty of the Midwest Buddhist Temple | By Cathy Tierney

As you approach the Midwest Buddhist Temple on Menomonee Street in Old Town, the first things you notice are the low-lying, organic architecture and the beautiful gardens surrounding it. The design of both are in keeping with the teachings of Buddhism: contemplative and of the earth.

Thanks in part to grants awarded to the Midwest Buddhist Temple (MBT) by the Old Town Triangle Association (OTTA), the design, production and continuous improvement of the gardens surrounding the temple have been lovingly maintained. This year, the grant of $2,000 will be used to manicure and add plantings to the five garden beds along St. Michael’s Court.

Jesse Zavala has been office manager and minister’s assistant for MBT for the last seven years. By the time he arrived, the gardens in the front of the temple were already underway after 20 years of fundraising. Known as the Legacy Garden, the garden is a living memorial to the founders of the temple over 70 years ago.

For four years, the generous grants from the OTTA have contributed to the beautification of the gardens that the MBT community hold dear. In addition to the Buddhist philosophy of honoring their ancestors, their location and close relationship with the community fuel the desire to share the temple with neighbors. “Although St. Michael’s Court is city property, we want to create a beautiful space specifically for the neighborhood,” Zavala said.

Dee DeCarlo, Co-Chair of the OTTA Grant Committee, says they get many requests for grants from local organizations. “There are so many worthy requests from our area, it can be a tough choice,” she said. “The goals of MBT gardens and the goals of the Association are in complete alignment.” MBT’s mission to promote cultural enrichment and keep Old Town beautiful made the Grant Committee’s decision easy.

With the Legacy Garden complete, MBT has turned its attention to the five garden beds along St. Michael’s Court. Between clearing the garden beds, trimming the trees, and purchasing flowers and shrubs, it is an on-going process. Local clubs volunteer to do some of the labor which is very helpful and makes it a community project. While the grant doesn’t cover the entire cost of the work, it’s a tremendous help and deeply appreciated.

With high pedestrian traffic along the promenade of the court and at nearby restaurants, daycares and the dog park, locals are always walking by. Zavala believes beautiful gardens along St. Michael’s Court will be enjoyed by all.

The Legacy Garden is available for guided tours and meditation on the first Sunday of the month after services, and by appointment. The Buddhist community in Old Town was founded by Japanese Americans after World War II, but the temple in its current location was completed in 1970. From 1960 to 1970 the community owned and occupied the building the Old Town Triangle Association now calls home.

Today’s Triangle Center has had varied uses in its century plus years in existence. In 1915 the Tribune announced that A. Watson Armour II was moving north across the Chicago River to the last remaining apartment at the newly constructed 1200 N. Lake Shore Drive building. In this new location, the Armours would live in closer proximity to the evening balls and dinners they attended, compared to their former south side residence. Philip Armour III, grandson of P.D. Armour, had wed in April of 1915. He, too, was awaiting completion of an apartment at 1200 N. Lake Shore Drive where each unit took up an entire floor.

This was an exciting time and grand opportunity. But what these descendants of the late Philip D. Armour – industrialist and meat packing king – lacked in their new Gold Coast digs, was garage space.

In 1916 both Philip and Watson Armour announced plans to build garages with living quarters on North Park Avenue at Menomonee. The cost was $30,000 on land that was worth about $10,000. The garages, with tile walls and high ceilings, were for the Armours’ private machines. Gold Coast lots were too valuable to be used for parking. Sometimes garages with living quarters above were built “off campus” on less costly land. The Armours rented the garage apartments to their chauffeurs and other employees. Per the 1920 U.S. Census, Watson Armour and his wife Elsa had seven servants. That meant there were nine people total living in a single Lake Shore Drive apartment!

The 1920 U.S. Census also revealed that the Armours had four chauffeurs and a butler residing in units above their North Park garage. Families included Edwin and Anna McKenzie, James Goodwin, Earl and Goldie Sanders, Stanley and Marion Parkinson, and John D. Roule. Two renters had young daughters, Gwendolyn and Marion.

In 1925, the Armours sold the garage building to another wealthy Chicagoan and relative, John J. Mitchell Jr., who was married to Ogden Armour’s daughter Lolita.

From 1948 to 1983 the Midwest Buddhist Temple owned the building where the garage served as their worship space until 1972. When the building became a condo in 1983, the Triangle Center purchased the first-floor units where the Armours’ machines had been parked. From garage to temple to today’s neighborhood center/art gallery, 1757-1763 N. North Park has witnessed a century of change.

This article is dedicated to our beloved Triangle administrator, the late Leslie Wolfe, whose spirit remains in the Leslie Wolfe Gallery where Armours’ chauffeurs and autos once dwelled.
